Future Nurse Practitioner Graduate Scholarship – Meg Schoenemann '78

When Meg Schoenemann '78 reflects on her decades-long nursing career — from the operating rooms of Lahey Clinic to serving as a Colonel in the U.S. Air Force Reserve during the Gulf War — she sees both the sacrifices the profession demands and the tremendous impact advanced practice nurses make on patients' lives.

Now retired after a distinguished career as an adult and geriatric nurse practitioner, Meg has made a generous commitment to ensure that financial barriers don't stand between tomorrow's nurses and the advanced training they need. She established the Future Nurse Practitioner Graduate Scholarship at Cedar Crest College to support graduate students pursuing nurse practitioner licensure.

"The need has never been greater," Meg noted, pointing in part to new federal legislation that ended the Grad PLUS program and instead establishes greatly reduced loan caps — changes that could further strain the budgets of students pursuing graduate-level nursing degrees. Her scholarship is designed as a current-use fund, meaning awards can reach students quickly, supporting both recruitment and retention in Cedar Crest's NP program.

Meg understands firsthand what it takes to build a career in advanced practice nursing and she wants to make that journey a little less daunting for the students who follow.
